EFFECTS OF THE BIG STORM

Disastrous Effects in Philadelphia Yesterday Afternoon.

GREAT DAMAGE TO PROPERTY

Houses Are Unroofed; Trees Uprooted and Crops Destroyed--Rows of Buildings Demolished--Hail Stones as Large as Hen's Eggs Fall, Church Struck by Lightning.

Philadelphia, July 23--One of the most disastrous wind, hail and rain storms which has visited this section of the country in a long time, swept over Philadelphia and contiguous territory late this afternoon. The storm entered the city from the west and took a northerly course, the greater part of the damage being done in West Philadelphia. Houses were unroofed, and trees uprooted. In the outlying districts growing crops were damaged to the extent of thousands of dollars. Losses and damage to property were almost totally ruined by the hail. Two houses of William Whately, at 61st and Hamilton streets, were unroofed, as were also the West Philadelphia Mennonite hall and hall at 47th and other buildings. An entire row of three-story buildings in course of erection at 52d and Vine streets was almost totally demolished. At Bryn Mawr the hail stones were almost as large as hen's eggs and the wind blew a gale, uprooting dozens of trees.

The storm struck the Delaware river, this side of Bristol, just as the steamboat Columbia was passing up the river. One of her life boats was lifted from the davits as it was so much blown, and carried nearly to the New Jersey shore.

LIGHTNING STRIKES A CHURCH.

At Norristown lightning struck the new Trinity church, and tore the roof nearly off. Part of the foundation of the big Conshohocken dye house was washed away, and the big mill of McFarland Brothers was badly damaged by the bursting of a dam.

By the time the storm reached New Jersey it had diminished in force, but there was still enough wind left to blow several large trees across the Camden and Amboy division of the West Jersey railroad.

Reports from Eastern Pennsylvania state that the storm was unusually severe in that section. In some places crops were totally destroyed by the hail. In Warren county, New Jersey, just across the Delaware river from Easton, a number of barns and sheds were struck by lightning. The Hunterdon county peach crop has been almost totally ruined. Trainmen on the Belvidere division of the Pennsylvania railroad and on the Jersey central say that in all their experience they have never witnessed such a destructive storm.

At Lambertville and Flemington several barns were unroofed and trees were uprooted by the score.

TON OF POWDER EXPLODES.

Leisner's Magazine at Milnesville is Struck by Lightning.

Hazleton, July 23--Leisner's powder magazine, located a half mile from Milnesville, was struck by lightning this afternoon. A ton of powder stored in the rear exploded with terrific force, shaking the very mountain and breaking the windows in Milnesville houses. Nobody was employed at the magazine at the time and so far as learned, no one was injured, although it is feared some heavy rocks were in the woods nearby at the time.

NEEDLES IN HER ARM.

Miss Fessler Placed Them There. Surgeons Remove Twenty-four.

Mt. Carmel, July 23--Miss Jennie Fessler, of this place, who insists on sticking all the needles she can find into her arms, was removed to the Miners' hospital, where the physicians succeeded in removing twenty-four of the sharp-pointed instruments.

Dr. Millard, of Mt. Carmel, had extracted twenty-one needles from the girl's arms several weeks ago.

Congressman Sulzer, of New York; Edison and other well-known people have been interested in the find and ninety-nine year leases have been secured on properties on which a rich output is promised. It is the intention of those interested to organize stock companies and work the mines.

MILK TRAIN WRECKED.

A Bridge Gives Way--Fireman and Engineer Are Badly Injured.

Zellonople, Pa., July 23--The storm of last night was the cause of a terrible wreck near here early this morning. The milk train on the Pittsburgh and Western railroad left Ellwood City at 4:05 and made the trip to Soap Run, just east of Pombell station. When they struck the bridge across Soap Run the structure was undermined by the flood and instantly went down, carrying with it the engine, tender, baggage car and the engineer, W. J. Osborne, and the fireman, R. W. Wolfe. The engineer was carried down the stream 75 yards before he could land, but the fireman was pinned between the engine and cab, and could not release himself, while the steam and hot water poured over his legs and arms. He was terribly scalded and can hardly recover.

PITTSBURG SUFFERS.

Effects of the Big Storm--Railroad Traffic is Delayed--Many Washouts.

Pittsburg, July 23--All the railways centering in Pittsburg suffered from the great storm, which swept through the Mahoning and Shenango valleys. On the Erie and Mahoning division of the Pennsylvania railroad, the damage was particularly severe. The rain resembled a cloudburst in many places. Landslides and washouts were frequent and many bridges and trestles were rendered unsafe. Small creeks were transformed into torrents, while in some places the roads were turned into swiftly running creeks, endangering the trestles over them.

There were two washouts on the station of the Port Wayne line, one being New Galilee and the other at Summit. Tons of earth were swept down, covering the tracks and they were blocked for several hours, although all the through express trains are on time this morning. The block house run track, running out of New Brighton, is unfit for use. It is a small switch, being only a few miles long. The Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Ashtabula, New Castle and Beaver Valley, and other lines, comprising the Erie and Ashtabula division, all suffered severely, and as yet traffic on several of them has not been resumed.

At bridges No. 28, at Nebo, and 29, west of Struthers, the eastern abutment was carried away. There was a serious washout at Jenkins Run, on the New Castle and Beaver Valley road, and all eastbound trains are running by way of Homewood bridge 17, east of Moravia, had two trains carried away. The road at Jenkins Run was ruined; one bent in the Newport bridge and one bent over a wagon road trestle.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

George Remps is Struck by a Bolt. Narrow Escape of His Mother.

Hazleton, Pa., July 23--A shocking accident occurred near Upper Lehigh this afternoon, when George Remps, aged 16 years, was killed by lightning. The young man, accompanied by his mother, was en route from Freedom to Upper Lehigh, when the heavy storm of this afternoon sprang up. They sought shelter in a treacherous hole when a bolt of lightning struck the tree, splintering it. Young Remps was killed instantly.

His mother, who was standing by his side, was unharmed. Seeing the terrible force of the lightning, she fled and lay insensible until pedestrians found her some time afterward.

SUGAR LOAF MINE TAPPED.

Remarkable Exhibition of Engineering Skill.

Hazleton, July 23--The old Sugar Loaf mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal company, which has been filled with water for the past twenty years, was successfully tapped last night. This work has been in progress many months and its completion is regarded as a marvel of engineering skill. A shaft was driven to a depth of 1285 feet, which pierced the barrier as indicated.

The drawing off of the water will take several months as there are several hundred acres of water there. It gives the mine a new lease of life and claims one of the most valuable colliers in this region.

KUNKEL BILL KILLED.

Harrisburg, July 23--The Kunkel fire alarm bill, which required theaters, school houses, mercantile establishments, hospitals and hotels to be provided with a fire alarm system to connect with the municipal system was vetoed today by Governor Hastings on the ground that it is better to leave to the municipalities the freedom which they now have to adopt such system and such appliances as they may deem best, unhampered and uncontrolled by any act of assembly.

RACING AGAINST TIDE AND TARIFF

British Steamers Trying to Beat the Dingley Bill.

WILL WIN $125,000 IF SUCCESSFUL

Two Vessels Laden with Valuable Cargoes of Sugar Are Endeavoring to Reach Philadelphia Before the Tariff Bill Becomes a Law--Heavy Weather Causes Delay.

Philadelphia, July 23--Two British steamers, laden with valuable cargoes of sugar, are tonight scudding over the seas toward this port as fast as their engines can carry them in a race against time, tide and tariff. There is a stake of $125,000 at the finish if they get within the customs district of Philadelphia before the Dingley bill passes the senate tomorrow afternoon, for doing so they will have saved that much money in duties on the sugar. The vessels are the Eton, Captain Emwright, and the Hurworth, Captain Mark. Both are from Java with their cargoes consigned here. As Gibraltar was passed July 5 and 6, respectively, the steamers should have come in the Delaware capes last night, but the recent heavy weather has probably caused the delay.

To incoming vessels, the Philadelphia customs districts register at Marcus Hook, Pa., and today three swift tugs went down the river to pull the steamers over the line before the bill becomes a law. Every effort is being made to make better time than the United States steamer has been making. The postponement of the date on the bill until 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon has stimulated hopes of landing the steamer. To do so, however, the steamer will have to be within the district before noon tomorrow, as the custom house closes at that hour until Monday. Substantial rewards await the captains of the ships if they beat the bill.

NO POLITICAL DEAL.

Philadelphia, July 23--The visit of Senator "Chris" L. Magee and Recorder von Bismarck to Pittsburgh today, and their meeting this evening at the Hotel Stratford with David Martin gave local politicians another opportunity to discuss the chances of harmony in the senate, and the possibility of the "No Deal" in the coming Republican state convention. All the parties declared that solely private business was discussed. Senator Magee said he knew nothing of any political deal.

Killed in a Tunnel.

Lansford, July 23--Friends found the bloated body of Amy Amber, aged 63, in the Jersey Central tunnel here last night. It is supposed that while walking through the tunnel Amber was struck by an engine that knocked her unconscious, and that he fell into the ditch. He was the father of twenty children.

Child Burned to Death.

Lancaster, July 23--A 17-months-old child of Calvin Deary of Marietta, killed a lighted lamp into his lap at the home of his grandparents at Columbia last night and was burned to death.

DIED FROM A MAD DOG'S BITE.

Washington, D. C., July 23--Charles E. Springmann, the young man who had contracted hydrophobia from the bite of a dog, died last night about 7:30 o'clock, after suffering untold agonies.

Pitiful End of a Young Man in Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C., July 23--Charles E. Springmann, the young man who had contracted hydrophobia from the bite of a dog, died last night about 7:30 o'clock, after suffering untold agonies.

Although it was thought the patient was unaware of his real condition, with a gasp he uttered the words "I am a mad dog" as he lay on his back, and the words, "Mad dog; I know. Don't tell mother."

Directly after this he went off into convulsive convulsions, and when he had partly recovered he traced on the sheet of paper the words: "It will kill me."

AN ICE BOX HIS PRISON.

Butcher Locked in and Nearly Frozen to Death.

Altoona, July 23--A Johnston butcher, James Hudack, had a narrow escape from freezing to death in his own refrigerator today. Hudack was in his ice box after closing his shop to get a piece of meat. While he was inside the door closed, and the automatic lock securely imprisoned him in his frigid cell.

Realizing his peril, Hudack howled for help, but the thick walls of the ice box deadened the noise. Being clad only in light summer clothing he found himself slowly freezing in a short time. A neighbor finally heard the noise and aroused Hudack's family.

The ice box was the last portion of the shop examined and there the butcher was found, unconscious on the floor. Vigorous rubbing and a hot whisky punch brought him around in a short time.

WEDDED IN THE EVENING OF LIFE.

Aged Lovers Who Had Wooed When Quite Young.

Norristown, July 23--Syrick Shallos, of Middletown, Delaware county, and Mrs. Eliza Robinson, of Bethayres, Montgomery county, aged 81 and 73 respectively, were married today, and thereby hangs a romance.

They had been lovers when young, but the parents of Mrs. Shallos objected to the ardent wooing of Shallos, and she married a Middletown woman. Then the former object of his affection married and she was a much-widowed woman. Shallos, too, had been left without a life mate, his wife dying.

Some time ago the widower and widow met at a funeral near Mrs. Robinson's home, and the spark of love was rekindled. They decided they would marry, and the ceremony was performed today.

HE PUNCTURED TIRES.

The Way a Bike Checker Got Square with Economical Wheelmen.

Lancaster, July 23--Harry Fry, a hostler at McGinnis's Park, and who has enjoyed the privilege of checking bicycles at the park during games of baseball, has been held for trial at court on innumerable counts of malicious mischief.

Of late all wheels that were not checked by Fry have been found to be punctured when the game was over. Fry was at once suspected and when a trap was laid for him he was caught. Fry used an awl to make the punctures.

It is claimed that the culprit punctured the tires simply because the owners of the wheels did not get them checked by him.

DEATH IN A QUARRY.

Easton, July 23--A fatal accident occurred this morning in Master's slate quarry at Pen Argy, this county. George Bickford was the victim. He was working at the bottom of the deep hole, when, without a moment's warning, a block of slate weighing a ton came crashing down from a "bench" or ledge, forty feet above him, striking him on the head. His skull was crushed and death resulted almost instantly.

of their plant. They say the plate mill houses, chosen to build a number of improvements to be made; that blast furnaces were blown out in order to be relined, and that the steel rail mill will resume operations the middle of next month for several weeks' run.

MANY SNAKES THEIR FIND.

Harry Pickers Kill Twenty Copperheads and There Were More. Chambersburg, July 23--Alexander Haulman and two sons, of Markes, Pa., went to Horse Valley Mountain in search of berries and came across and killed four large copperheads and two large rattlesnakes. For fear of snakes they made their second trip to Mt. Parnell, and to their surprise came upon a den of copperheads.

They killed twenty, and would have killed more had it not been for the poison they applied to their feet. The snakes were blown out in order to be relined, and that the steel rail mill will resume operations the middle of next month for several weeks' run.

INDUSTRIAL NEWS.

The immense basin of water which has submerged the Old Sugarloaf slope for almost a quarter of a century was successfully tapped into the water shaft at No. 40 slope Thursday evening at 9 o'clock, says the Hazleton Standard. A bore hole had been driven for a distance of 1,285 feet, all this being accomplished under great difficulties. When the wild rush of water gushed forth the noise made thereby somewhat resembled a miniature waterfall, and fears were entertained by the men who were working on the enterprise that serious damage might result. But, fortunately, all that occurred was that the machinery was moved somewhat out of its regular position. The water was stopped in the presence of General Superintendent Caleb Williams and Mine Foreman Thomas Williams, of the Lehigh Coal company, both of whom have been charge of similar enterprises in years gone by. It was the most remarkable feat of engineering skill of modern times, and by it many dangers are now averted. Several other holes to assist in draining the water from Old Sugarloaf will be completed in the near future, and it may be that many of the appliances now in use may yet be mined and prepared for market.

G. M. Williams, of Wilkes-Barre, the present mine inspector of that district, is the only applicant for nomination for the superintendency of the newly erected bureau of mines. Reese Lloyd, of Drifton, has some friends who are working to have him appointed to place in the bureau. A well known Republican, who takes an interest in state politics, told a Hazleton Plain-Speaker man the other day: "Mr. Williams seems to stand very well in this section but Mr. Mansfield, the member who introduced the bill, is working for the appointment of a soft coal man and Senators Quay and Hanna as well as a horde of congressmen and state senators are also in favor of the office being filled by a soft coal man. They seem to think that the department will be of great benefit to the bituminous region and that its duties as far as the anthracite regions are concerned will be merely perfunctory."

The men engaged in the proving of the McLaugher coal seam near Hazleton have adopted a new method to prove the depth and quality of the underlying mineral deposit which is thought to exist there. It is the drilling of a hole by hand, which is calculated to give a more accurate section than the ordinary method of sinking strata as would a shaft or slope which would cost ten times as much. The hole can be drilled over 50 feet in this manner and although the earth had been penetrated by a shaft, the chances are already bright prospects of a realization of expectations as far as the discovery of coal is concerned.

Superintendent P. F. Brennan reports that about 400 aliens are employed in the seven mines of the Reading Coal and Iron company in the Shamokin district. A big majority of these aliens are of the Slavonic races, but the new alien labor law is showing that quite a number of English, Welsh and Irish workmen have failed to take out their naturalization papers.
